◀ MIDDLETOWN, CONN.: The members of Wesleyan Potters will be joined by more than 200 jury-selected artists for their 50th Annual Exhibit and Sale at their gallery Nov. 26-Dec. 17. In addition to these ceramic works by artist Chotsani Dean, the exhibition features a wide range of gifts in jewelry, metal, weaving, baskets, glass and more. (860-347-5925)

▶ PORTLAND, ORE.: Self-taught artist Shannon Weber describes her color baskets as "large collages," created and colored one layer at a time over the course of days or even weeks. Weber's fiber constructions, ranging from wildly colorful to Native-inspired, will be the subject of a solo show at Guardino Gallery now-Nov. 20. (503-281-9048)

▼ NEW YORK, N.Y.: Dai Ichi Arts celebrates Yasuo Hayashi's 60 years of ceramic work with "Six Decades of Ceramic Masterpieces" now-Nov. 30. David McFadden, chief curator at the Museum of Arts & Design, says the work "combines the elegance of Japanese tradition with strikingly modern concepts." Hayashi's "Seat" from 1978 will be among the objects on display. (212-230-1680)

▶ CINCINNATI, OHIO: You'll find no Double Wedding Ring or Pinwheel patterns at "Beyond Tradition: Contemporary Art Quilts" at the Carl Solway Gallery now-Dec. 23. More than 30 fiber artists challenge the form, function and meaning of quilting with their innovative techniques and content, including Linda Gass, whose "Forbidden Full Moon" will be included in the exhibition.
